

Alan W. Capiccioni
April 4, 2016
Age 63
Cleveland, Ohio

Nicknamed "Chrome Al," Alan Capiccioni died at age 63 in Cleveland, Ohio.

Al quipped that he had an 11th grade education from Lakewood High School, but earned his Ph.D. on the streets. He said that his wealth was not measured in money, but rather in his family.

And he was indeed wealthy in family. Al was survived by his beloved wife Cheryl and his son Trevor Alan Capiccioni, as well as his parents Samuel and Joan Capiccioni and his siblings Kenneth, David, Debbie Heidinger, Joseph, Dean, Wendy Demaline, Steve, and Clara Pyle. He was preceded in death by his brother Samuel. Al was also the uncle and great-uncle to many.

Al was a longtime employee of TRW, working in the valve division for more than 25 years.
